FEATURED HOME

Hello Spring! We at the Green House have been looking forward to spring and we're sure glad that it came early this year!

Sharon G. has been keeping busy with contract work such as envelopes, nuts and bolts, and other small assembly projects at Merrick. She enjoys participating in her advocacy group and will come home with great information that she learned to share with everyone. Sharon also stays busy by mall walking before going out for some coffee, or helping bake something good to eat at home. She is a joy to be around when she likes to gently tease you about being a trouble maker. Sharon has been dropping little hints about a certain April birthday. You would never guess it was hers!

Kim B. has been making some great strides in her life. She recently took up a new job during the day, cleaning at a store three times a week. Kim is really excited for a change of scenery. She has been keeping busy with shopping and going out to community activities with her housemates. They were recently down in Stillwater for an art exhibit and out for lunch. With the weather being so nice, Kim has started walking the path behind the house and is taking great care of herself.

Lynn Z. has been going to work and enjoying her days there. She likes to do most of the piece work and also enjoys the down time when they play Bingo. She has been eagerly watching the moon at night and will have everyone come out to see it together with her. Lynn has been walking the path behind the house and you can tell how much she likes it by the way she smiles. Lynn has been busy growing her Amaryllis she got for Christmas. It has bloomed three blossoms so far. Soon Lynn and the rest of the house will be planting some flowers out on the deck as well as some vegetable plants.

Lisa B. has been eagerly waiting for the warm weather. Lately she has been watching the different birds, squirrels, and other furry animals in the yard that have come out to enjoy the warmer weather. Recently we found a frog in the house and I went to show it to her. The frog jumped out and she screamed a little, but quickly she was smiling and laughing at me while chasing it down to get it quickly outside. Lisa has been keeping busy over the winter with going to church on Sundays and visiting with family and friends during the holidays.

MATT'S MEMO

The windows are opening and the flowers are blooming; SPRING IS HERE! This time of year is always fun here at PKT as the clients and staff start to come out of their hibernation and start venturing outside to enjoy the beautiful Minnesota weather. Along with the change in weather comes a change in the Minnesota sports scene.

The PKT clients consist of a diverse and enthusiastic bunch of sports fans. Many of our clients are looking forward to spending a warm summer evening catching a ball game outside while gazing at the Minneapolis skyline at the next Twins game. Others are excited for the end of the Wild and Timberwolves' seasons so they can move forward with the disappointing seasons and keep an eye on any of the off season moves. And of course you can't forget the Vikings, who no matter how disappointing their season is, a few months after their last game we seem to think they will be a much better team in the upcoming year.

Depending on which PKT house you stop by, you will get a different response for what sports are king! Stop by the Dark or the White House and they will tell you the Vikings are top dog in the Minnesota sports scene. The Brighton House ladies enjoy listening, watching and talking about any and all things Twins. The Brown House guys are into anything that is competitive. A few of the guys recently took in their first Minnesota Swarm game and said they had a great time.

If the clients aren't watching sports and cheering on the pros, they are probably out participating in their own leagues. Several clients from the Dark, Brown and Yellow Houses have participated in the Saint Paul Adaptive Recreation basketball league. There seemed to be a friendly rivalry between some clients within PKT that live at different houses and play on different teams. This spring they will set aside the basketball shoes and strap on the cleats for some softball.

Whether the PKT clients are watching, listening, going to or chatting about the local sports events, our clients seem to be up on the latest news and events, and they certainly buy in to any "hope" that our teams may one day succeed. Next time you head to a sporting event keep an eye out for our clients. They will be the ones dressed to the nines in the sports garb and cheering the loudest.

SPOTLIGHT ON

Hello all. Sean A. is this month's "Lucky Man" to be featured under the "Spotlight On." Sean has been with PKT since 2004 and has made great strides in all aspects of his life. He continues to lose weight under a strict exercise program that he has come up with on his own. Sean is very independent and likes to manage his life on his own, which makes him very proud. Another important activity for Sean is a weekly support group that he regularly attends.

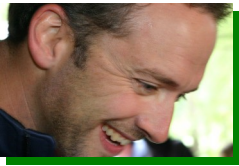

Sean enjoys his work at Midway Training Services. On most days he can be found taking a short nap after work and then exercising before supper. On Thursdays he chooses what meal we are having at the Brown House. Sean continues to love pizza but does pick other dishes quite often. The other "Men at Brown" are happy that he is being sensitive to their needs and wishes.

Sean is very polite, saying please and thank you almost always when people are helping him. Sean loves heavy metal music and has went to numerous concerts with other clients and staff within PKT. He does like to sit and talk with staff and clients at the house while being very social and wanting to be involved. He always let's staff know his schedule and asks if he has any upcoming appointments. Sean continues to be a great asset to the Brown House and we look forward to many more years together.

P.S. "Hello Sean, it's me Duane. I just want to say thank you for the many hours of getting to know you and the many more in the years to come."

Duane Sundblad, Brown House Coordinator ✍

STEVE'S SCOOP

Happy, ummm, “Summer”?? Sure, why not...Spring in Winter and Summer in Spring...I guess so long as we don't get Winter in Summer, all is good? Crazy!

Well, as I am sure you have either already read or will do so soon, PKT has announced its winners for the 2011 Employee of the Year in this issue of The PKT Press! Yes, you read right...winners! This year all management staff voted for one non-management employee and one management employee to receive the award. The top vote getters, each receiving $500, were Sharilyn Korte (management) and Karl Johnson (non-management)! Please read the full page articles on each of these two awesome people!!

As with any vote casting type “contest” there are some runners up...and in our case, most definitely need to be mentioned! For the management side, the runners up were Matt Wahl, Rayneshia Nunn, and Jennifer Johnson, each receiving 2 spins of the fabulous PKT Prize Wheel! For the non-management side, the runners up were Deb Paine and Sherri Vogel; also receiving 2 spins! Thank you so much to these fabulous people, who stood out and were recognized by their peers and supervisors as employees who daily go above and beyond their calling!

For anyone who has questions about our new “contest”, Walk the Houses, feel free to call either Sharilyn or Tennille and they can give you the info you need. It is well underway, and it is cool to see that we have about 25 employees taking part! Thank you to both Sharilyn and Tennille for putting together a really fun team building experience, full of weekly questions to boost mileage, charts, tables, etc. A ton of work went into it and it IS quite amazing!

Have a good and safe start to summer ☺!

Congratulations and Thank You !!

SHARILYN'S ...

What's your favorite thing to do on a “night-out-on-the-town”? If you are like me, it may be going to see a sporting event such as the Minnesota Twins. However, you may fancy a concert, a play, a musical, the circus, or monster trucks. There are so many things going on around the Twin Cities on any given night to choose from and our clients enjoy them all.

Almost every week I receive a request from at least one of our clients to look into ticket prices for an upcoming event that interests them. If you were to look through my Ticketmaster account history, one would think I had the most eclectic taste in entertainment ever! For instance, you might see Madonna, Cirque du Soleil, Swarm, Twins, and WWE all listed as recent searches. These are all events our clients have requested to attend.

We here at PKT do our very best to help get our clients to such events as often as time and finances allow. From recent experience, it brings joy to our clients to cheer on their favorite team, rock out to their favorite band, or to immerse themselves into a story. The smiles and the retelling of the fun they had always makes the time spent doing the research and finding good seating worth the while. Likewise, if you know of an event that you think any of our clients would enjoy (especially free events ☺) I am all ears; just shoot me an email.

Sharilyn Korte, Director of Financial Services ✍

IN-HOME CONNECTION

There's an individual with the In-Home side of PKT who is engaging, funny, intuitive and just a great person! One can't help but to laugh along with him, and he makes you wonder what it is he's going to want to do next. This individual is named Tom M.

Tom is a great guy with a lot of interests. He likes to do many different activities when he hangs out with his staff; you never know where you're going to see them next! Knowing that what he does during his time out in the community is his call, Tom takes out his communication book and is at the ready to let staff know what he wants to do. Staff had better be ready, because Tom goes right down the list.

First is one of the most important things to get done, and that's getting a bite to eat. After all, one must have the energy to make it through the rest of Tom's well-planned shift! Taco Bell and Wendy's are a sure bet for him. Tom has his favorites there of what to eat, so ordering is a snap.

Next comes, wait for it...the walk! One of Tom's favorite place to go is Maplewood Mall. There's a lot to see there, and he likes to stop into some of the clothing stores and check out the latest fashions. Tom also really likes it when he goes to the bookstore and staff reads him a book or two. It's a good thing that the malls are at least two levels, because Tom never misses the chance to go on at least a couple of elevator rides!

When it's really nice outside, Tom chooses to go to the Como Zoo. There he enjoys not only walking but also stopping and looking at all the different animal exhibits. He likes to watch the animals closely for awhile to see their different behaviors as well as to hear the sounds of the more vocal ones. Tom also likes going walking at various parks. He especially seems to like the trails around our lakes.

Tom has fun interacting with others; this would seem to be the case especially around the ladies! Tom likes to tap staff on the arm to get their attention, then points, and with a big smile on his face says "Look, look!" Watch out, Tom; the ladies just might catch you flirting!

Joking around with staff is another thing Tom is very good at! He likes to imitate what staff are doing sometimes. If staff sneezes, Tom pretends to sneeze! When he sees that staff are thinking about something, Tom likes to scratch his head, then moves his hand to his chin and frowns a bit, striking a pose as if to say "I'm in deep thought, too."

Tom brings a lot of laughs to those who interact with and work with him. He's a fun guy who has so much to offer. So watch for Tom at the next PKT event. He'll be the guy who's smiling, laughing and maybe even looking a little deep in thought.

Christopher Bastyr, In-Home Services Coordinator ✍

WELCOME ... PKT would like to extend a warm welcome to ...

Hello! My name is Jennifer Clement and I am the new House Coordinator at PKT #9, the White House. Through college I worked part time in a group home with four women and I loved it! I became very passionate about this type of work and decided to make a difference. While working with those ladies I also was the coach of their Special Olympics volleyball team, which was a lot of fun.

I have a six year old son named Anthony. He is a kindergartner this year and enjoys school! He plays on a basketball and a T-Ball team as well. I graduated from the University of Minnesota in May 2011 and obtained my bachelors in Communication Studies as well as minors in African American History and Spanish. I studied abroad in Mexico my senior year and was able to volunteer with adults with developmental disabilities. It was truly an amazing experience.

In my spare time I volunteer with high school students who have children and assist with college prep. This includes helping with resumes, college applications and preparing for the ACT test. I work alongside the University of Minnesota's Student Parent Help center to help college students with children balance their life with school, work and a family.

I have now had the chance to visit every house and meet with all of PKT's clients. I love to help people and I am very excited and appreciative of this opportunity!

Feel free to contact me via email: whitehousecoordinator@pktenterprises.com or my office phone number at 612/788-3998 ext. 159.

Memorial Day Trivia

Memorial Day is celebrated the last Monday in May. This was not always the case, however. The holiday used to have a fixed date of May 30, regardless of which day the holiday fell on. There is still much debate over this.

It was first celebrated to honor Civil War casualties. In the North, this day came about to honor fallen Union soldiers. The first decree said it was to respect the men who had defended the Union in the matter of the latest rebellion. Southerners, as a whole, refused to celebrate the day, as they were still hostile toward the North. They created their own holiday called the Confederate Memorial Day. It remains a state holiday in many southern states.

Waterloo, New York is credited with having the first Memorial Day. The first official Memorial Day was held on May 5, 1866. It took on a nationwide stance. Other locations across the country dispute this. Southerners say they began the first Memorial Day as they decorated the graves of fallen Confederate soldiers, and the idea was stolen by the Northerners.

The Indy 500 is a Memorial Day tradition. Since 1911, the Indianapolis 500 has been held in conjunction with national Memorial Day festivities.

An American tradition is visiting the gravesites and honoring the dead. Graves of soldiers from all wars are decorated with flags and flowers. The holiday was expanded after World War I to include American soldiers of any U.S. war or military action.

Memorial Day was originally called Decoration Day. The main events of this day each year were to honor the dead. Although the name did change in the late 1880s, it was still called Decoration Day until after World War II.

There is a National Memorial Day concert. It is held on the West Lawn of the United States Capitol building. Music is played and respect is paid to the men and women who gave their lives in service to the United States.

Memorial Day has an official USA recognition time. Memorial Day is officially observed at 3:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

There is an American tradition on how to fly the American Flag. Flags should be lowered to half-staff from dawn until noon on Memorial Day.

Many communities hold official Memorial Day parades. Veterans and service organizations such as the Rotary, the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts usually participate in these hometown parades.

We Americans should stop for a while and remember those men and women who gave their very lives in sacrifice for our country.
